CONSULAR AGENT IS GIVEN FREEDOM LATE LAST NIGHT, REPORT

Consular Agent Abducted and Finally Arrested by Mexican Authorities After Repeated Threats From U. S. Government. Is Now Safe According to Report of U. S. Government Agent at Pueblo.

BULLETIN

Washington, Dec. 5.—American Embassy at Mexico City informs State Department Jenkins released by Mexican Authorities late last night.

Washington, Dec. 5.—3:55 p. m.—William O. Jenkins, United States Consular Agent held by Mexican authorities, has been released. The American Embassy at Mexico City this afternoon, informed the state department that Jenkins was released by the Mexican authorities.

The state department issued the following statement:

"The release of William O. Jenkins, American Consular Agent at Pueblo, Mexico, was reported late this afternoon from the American Embassy at Mexico City.

"The secretary of state announced that a dispatch from the embassy stated that Third Secretary Hannah of the Embassy, who was sent to Pueblo in connection with the department's repeated representations for the immediate release of Jenkins, has reported that Jenkins was released from the penitentiary last night.

"Jenkins was abducted October 19, and the American Embassy was immediately instructed to take all possible measures to effect his release from the bandits, who had robbed and kidnapped him. Jenkins was released on ransom, returning to Pueblo, on October 22, was taken to a hospital on that date and was arrested on November 15, by the Mexican authorities and taken into custody."

Reveal Reports

Washington, Dec. 5.—The Mexican situation gave way to interest in President Wilson condition in congress today.

The action of the foreign relations committee of the senate in delegating a committee of two consisting of Senator Fall of New Mexico and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, to call upon the president and determine whether he will be able to function in the Mexican situation has caused widespread interest in the capital.

Senator Fall declared that he has information which he must lay before the president, but that if he can not see the president, he will be forced to make a public statement. He further declared that this information will show that the Jenkins case is but a trifle compared to other things which Mexico must answer to this government for.

Senator Hitchcock telephoned to the White House at 10:30 o'clock last night to see if an audience could be had with President Wilson. He told Secretary Tumulty that it was not necessary to see the chief executive today, but that Saturday, Sunday or even Monday would do.

Thus matters were left until today.

This morning Mrs. Wilson announced to Secretary Tumulty that the president desired to see the committee of two from the senate as early as possible and set time at 2:30 p. m.

The Mexican crisis, therefore is now up to the president of the United States, along with all the complex situation arising out of it.

All the rumors and reports as to the president's incapacity owing to illness, will now be definitely settled as well the question mooted in the senate as to whether the president knew anything of the Jenkins affair and the present complications with Mexico.

INSANE FATHER ATTEMPTS TO KILL ENTIRE FAMILY

Passaic, N. J., Dec. 5.—Fourteen year old Lena Strong, her eight year old sister Susanna and their 12 year old brother Nathaniel, are in the hospital today suffering from terrible gashes about the head inflicted by a maniac who attempted to wipe out an entire family of six.

The first news of the tragedy came when a quavering childish voice called Dr. John H. Carlisle on the telephone and said:

"This is Lena Strong. Please come to our house quick. Everybody here is sick."

A gruesome sight greeted the doctor when he entered. Mason R. Strong head of the family, had gone insane and battered his wife and 16 year old daughter Elizabeth to death with an axe. Then he fatally wounded his son and attempted to kill the younger daughters. Thinking he had succeeded he entered the bathroom and killed himself by cutting his throat.

Strong was an architect with offices in Wall street, New York City. Ill health is thought to have led to his derangement.

Dazed and helpless the living children remained with the dead for 36 hours before they notified Dr. Carlisle. They were still stunned when the physician arrived at the house, indicating that the madman had given narcotics to his victims before attacking them to prevent resistance.

The two girls are expected to recover, but the boy probably will die.

AGED CEDARVILLE WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Catherine Ford, widow of the late Henry Ford, and an aged Cedarville resident, died at her home there at 8:10 o'clock Friday morning. She suffered a stroke of paralysis a year ago last March and a second stroke Friday morning at one o'clock, from which she never regained consciousness, resulted in her death.

Mrs. Ford was born in Springfield but had lived most of her life in Cedarville. She was 78 years of age at the time of her death. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Marietta Stewart of Springfield and the following children, all of whom live in Cedarville, Mrs. C. M. Stuckey, William Ford, Mrs. Minnie Owens and Alva Ford.

Mrs. Ford was a member of the M. E. Church since she was 12 years of age. Funeral services will be held at the late residence on North Main street, Cedarville, at 1:30 Monday afternoon and will be private. Burial will be made in Cedarville. Friends may call between two and five o'clock Sunday.

WOUNDED VETERANS APPEAL TO MINERS

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Facing a serious shortage of coal at the military hospital at Fort Sheridan, a committee of patients—overseas veterans suffering from wounds received in battle in France—sent the following appeal to the coal miners of the Sangamon county coal company:

"The coal supply at this hospital will last only a few days. We are entirely dependent upon you for coal after this is gone. Three thousand men here at your mercy. Many of us are confined to our beds. No coal means more than lack of comfort. It may mean death to many of us.

"We fought for you in France. Are you going to fight for us now or let us freeze? We expect a statement from you."

ALL WASHINGTON IN GRIP OF COAL SHORTAGE TODAY

Fuel Famine Also Hits New York as Cars Go Heatless; Street Signs Turned Off.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Official Washington awoke to a full realization of the coal crisis today, which was emphasized by a slight chill that hung over the whole city.

Coal conservation has hit the national capital and street cars were not fully heated, the bright lights had been ordered cut off, and apartment houses were minus the usual sizzling radiators. The government departments still have plenty of coal and were a haven of heat. Washington is not in the grip of a coal famine, but a shortage is seen in prospect and real conservation is bringing the seriousness of the situation forcibly to the attention of officials.

The entire situation now appears to rest with the courts in Indianapolis. The action taken by Federal Judge Anderson in ordering a grand jury investigation and the contempt of court proceedings against the leaders of the mine workers are held out as the only apparent hope of clearing the atmosphere sufficiently to secure a settlement.

The government will proceed through Attorney General Palmer with strict enforcement of the law, in the hopes that the miners will return to their work, when they learn that government is as determined to proceed against operators as against miners.

Dr. Garfield was expected to arrive here today and to take up the next move for the conservation of coal. Reports are reaching the fuel administration of voluntary action in many cities for the conservation of coal and it is understood that Dr. Garfield is in favor of allowing wide discretion to the local committees in the matter of coal distribution.

Operators are here in session but they declare they are merely discussing tax problems and are not attempting to reach any settlement of the wage question. The road to relief now appears to be through the court of Judge Anderson.

New York, Dec. 5.—The maximum effect of the coal strike was felt here today. Heat was turned off in subway, elevated and surface cars during the rush hours and the bunkering of foreign ships was discontinued.

Cold weather caused much discomfort among persons using the electric railways to get to work.

Beginning tonight the great electric signs which made Broadway famous as the "great white way," will be discontinued except for an hour between 7:30 and 8:30.

By these measures of economy it is hoped to save more than 1,000 tons of coal daily here.

ALLIES OCCUPY FRANKFORT

London, Dec. 5.—The allies will occupy Frankfort and Essen unless the Germans sign forthwith the ratification protocol of the peace treaty, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris today.

ONE THIRD REDUCTION IN PASSENGER SERVICE WILL CAUSE R. R. DIFFICULTY

Predict That Curtailment in Train Service Over Entire Country Will Take Place Within Week.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Railroad officials in the middlewest today are rearranging their schedules to meet the one-third reduction ordered in passenger service in the central, southwestern and northwestern divisions effective Monday and which is expected to save about 11,000 tons of coal daily.

The mileage in the three territories in which the curtailment has been ordered total 18,152,000 miles a month. Railroad officials today predicted that the one-third reduction order would be applied to the entire country within the coming week. They estimated the nation's train mileage per month at 43,905,000 of which about 14,635,000 miles or more than enough to reach half way around the world would be cut in case the curtailment order is applied throughout the country.

These officials denied a nation wide embargo on non-essential freight was contemplated.

"There is an automatic embargo of freight in effect now," said M. J. Gormley, assistant director of the northwestern region. "This automatic embargo is increasing in proportion every day. Brick, stone, sand, cement, steel, are all non-essential. Since the manufacturing of these products has been discontinued the railroads no longer have to haul the cars."

Regional operating directors will use their discretion in each district rather than follow any rule of curtailment. The public will be notified in each case where a train is taken off its regular run, thus giving the public ample opportunity to make arrangements to obtain other trains and eliminating any inconvenience from the reduction of train service.

EMMA GOLDMAN DEFIANT IN FACE OF DEPORTATION

New York, Dec. 5.—Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, anarchists, were delivered to Ellis Island authorities today for deportation to Russia. Officials had anticipated a "red" demonstration by their friends, but the proceedings went off quietly. A few friends accompanied them to the island.

One final attempt will be made to save the pair from deportation. Harry Weinberger, their attorney, said he would apply for a writ of habeas corpus later in the day.

Berkman was silent about his case, but Emma displayed her usual volubility.

"We'll go if we have to," she said, "but soviet America will call us back in five years. I don't mean to say that there will be a revolution in America in five years, but we will be back anyway. To be a prophet is to be a fool and I, at least, am not a fool."

MANY PROBLEMS CONFRONT MEET

Washington, Dec. 5.—President Wilson's second industrial conference today is wrestling with the problem of "adjustment and arbitration."

The conference has adopted a program for its work, outlined by Herbert Hoover and will bend its effort first to the question of means of peaceable settlement of industrial disputes.

Collective bargaining, hours of labor and wages are other subjects upon the program which are to be dealt with.

COAL OPERATORS MEET GOVERNOR ON FUEL ISSUE

Columbus, Dec. 5.—In an effort to settle the coal strike, so far as Ohio mines are concerned, Governor Cox called a meeting of operators and miners' officials for today. This action was taken after conferences for several days with leaders on both sides of the issue. As negotiations on a national scale in Washington have failed, the governor believed it was time to attempt settlement on a state basis.

It was declared by men in close touch with the governor that if the nation-wide strike is to continue another 10 days, approximately 750,000 men will be out of employment in Ohio.

Before calling the session, the governor discussed the question at his office with leaders of the Ohio miners' group, namely, John Moore, state president; Lee Hall, vice president; G. W. Savage, secretary, and these district presidents: William Tobinett, Jacksonville; George Cecil, Wellston; Thomas Price, Midvale; John Saxton, Salineville; William Ray, Bridgeport, and W. C. Thompson, Cambridge.

INVESTIGATE CAUSE OF CLEVELAND FIRE

Cleveland, O., Dec. 5.—An investigation was under way today to determine if possible the cause of the fire which early last evening destroyed the lumber yards and plant of the Edgewater Lumber and Supply company with an estimated loss of $200,000.

STICKS TO POST; SHOT BY HUG

Canton, O., Dec. 5.—E. E. Pottorf, aged 59, is in Aultman hospital annex with a bullet in the right side of his chest, following attack on him by two men last night at the mining station of the Standard Oil company, 12th street, N. E. When the men entered the station Pottorf seized a hammer to defend the cash, but he was shot by one of the men. The cash register was rifled of $50. Police have descriptions of the men.

ALLIES PLANNING ACTION SHOULD GERMANY REFUSE

Paris, Dec. 5.—Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the imperial British staff, attended a secret meeting of the supreme council at which the allies discussed measures to be taken if Germany refuses to sign the protocol of ratification. The Matin stated today. The Germans probably will be called upon immediately to sign the protocol, it was said.

There are hints current that the allies intend to extend their military occupation in Germany.

Baron Von Lonsner, head of the German delegation, announced through his secretary, Herr Meyer, that Dr. Von Simon and the other German experts would return to Paris from Berlin on the following conditions:

1. That the allies and associated powers accept Germany's suggestion that the question of reparation for the sinkings of the interned German fleet at Scapa Flow be submitted to The Hague tribunal.
2. That the final paragraph of the protocol of ratification threatening coercive measures against Germany be eliminated.
3. That the allies agree to a discussion of technical points such as the delivery of materials.

It was stated in American circles that there was not the slightest chance that the allies would agree to those conditions.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The coal strike is gradually breaking, Judge C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general today stated. He said reports reaching the department of justice indicate that the coal miners are gradually returning to their work.

There are now about 50 per cent of the miners at work, according to Judge Ames. This means that approximately 250,000 men are producing coal and unless there is a change, officials believe that coal production figures will increase from now on.

Monday was the critical day, Judge Ames said, and fewer men were at work then than at any time since the strike began. Since Monday conditions have gradually become better.

Judge Ames leaves tomorrow for Indianapolis where he will assist Anderson in the prosecution of the contempt of court proceedings in the grand jury investigation of the coal strike.

Indianapolis, Dec. 5.—The government has taken steps to broaden the scope of its prosecutions in connection with the strike of coal miners and will investigate alleged violations of the Lever food control act and the Sherman anti-trust law by miners, operators and others.

United States District Judge A. B. Anderson ordered a special session of the federal grand jury here Monday morning and immediately afterward a statement was given out by United States District Attorney L. Ert Slack and Dan W. Simms, special district attorney who is aiding in the injunction proceedings, declaring that the time has arrived to determine "whether this is a government of law or of a group of men."

The grand jury investigation, called primarily to deal with charges against coal operators, will cover all phases of the controversy in the coal industry, and will be nationwide in its scope, it was stated. The statement of government attorneys brought out that the investigation was intended not only to furnish relief in the present coal crisis, but that the government expects to prosecute all violators of the law and will see that they suffer the penalties provided by law. The Lever law carries a penalty of $5,000 fine or imprisonment, not to exceed two years, in the penitentiary.

It's a soil mellowing, a valuable source of humus and a reservoir of moisture. It prevents soil-blowing and "patchy" spots—holds a protecting blanket of snow on wheat.

HAPPINESS.
Whatever leads to mental enjoyment contributes more to our happiness than the highest bodily pleasure. The one feeds the soul, while the other often exhausts us physically and is a real injury. Hence it is that the good act we do gives the soul enjoyment. Even if we get no thanks we have the mental satisfaction, and that is worth more than dollars and cents.
But very often we have the gratitude of the recipient and that is enjoyment which touches us where we live. Sometimes our gift has been something which had been craved.

and in such cases the gratitude is so full as to make us feel that the act was of double effect, blessing both the giver and the recipient. And in such cases there is the feeling to the giver of supreme happiness—about the choicest we mortals are ever permitted to enjoy.
Happiness or unhappiness depends on the way we meet the events of life—on the way we take advantage of them. If we see an opportunity to do a good act and turn away from it, we are the Priest and Levite who "pass by on the other side" in the Good Samaritan Bible story. On the other hand, see how the good Samaritan has been held up as a pattern for us for 1919 years. We love him—and through him are taught that all mankind of the world are our brethren.
Happiness is like manna; it is to be gathered in grains, and enjoyed daily. It will not keep; it cannot be accumulated; nor have we got to go out of ourselves or into remote places to gather it, since it rains down from heaven at our very door.
It is only a poor sort of happiness that comes by caring over much for our own pleasures. Happiness is a shy nymph, and if you chase her you will never catch her; but just go quietly on in the way of duty and she will come to you.
Happiness is the legitimate fruitage of Love and Service.

KICKS AGAINST "HORSE PLAY."
Columbus, O., Dec. 5.—"If the citizens of this country are compelled to stand idly by and observe six more months of political horse play to determine who shall lead the Democratic and Republican job holders in 1920, we might just as well have the United States make an assignment," declared State Auditor Donahay yesterday.

Before him are Carolina Lazzari and Virgilio Lazzari, both leading members of the same company. When Ciccolini started singing with the New Edison, Virgilio exclaimed, "A duet! And they're alike as two peas. I wonder if I can tell them apart." Closing his eyes he listened attentively. Gradually Ciccolini sang more softly. Finally he ceased. "Why don't you stop?" inquired Lazzari a moment later. "So that I can tell the difference?" Ciccolini and Signorina Lazzari burst into laughter. Lazzari, the noted basso; even he had been utterly baffled. He could not distinguish artist from instrument.

LIMA LADY ALMOST FELL DOWN STAIRS ON TWO OCCASIONS
Suffered from vertigo, dizzy spells, and a general lazy liver. Had to support her back with a pillow on account of backache.
Now declares her troubles are relieved since taking the new medicine Drecto.
"I suffered so from dizzy spells and vertigo that I almost fell down stairs on two occasions. My back ached so bad that I had to prop a pillow or cushion against it when I sat down," are the words of a well known lady, Mrs. S. D. Campbell, of 206 N. Elizabeth St., Lima, O.
"Several of my friends were so highly pleased with Drecto, they persuaded me to take it, and I honestly believe it has been my salvation. I feel like an entirely different person. I lost my appetite and began to get into a highly serious run-down condition, and got so I didn't even want to look at anything to eat, for the smell and even the sight of cooking made me sick. To get a good night's rest was simply out of the question, and I would lie awake and roll and toss until morning, and then would feel more tired than when I went to bed the night before. I managed to keep on my feet, but many a day it would have felt good to have gone to bed. I was almost a nervous wreck, without energy or strength. Sometimes I felt as though I would as soon be dead as alive. As I have said, several of my friends kept after me to try Drecto, so I finally consented, and I honestly think it was the only thing that saved me. I am feeling strong and well again and sleep like a rock, and can hardly get enough to eat. My nervousness has entirely disappeared; also the constipation. Drecto is a wonderful medicine and every one should know about it."
Drecto, the new herbal system tonic, tones up and strengthens the nervous system; invigorates the entire body; removes all impurities from the blood; restores energy and vitality; tones up the digestive organs; puts the stomach in good condition; stimulates the sluggish liver; strengthens the kidneys, and soothes tired nerves.
All up-to-date druggists now sell Drecto, and it is highly recommended in Xenia by Sohn's Drug Store.

The Shivering Girl

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

Adrian Revere proposed to June Lindley with all the sincerity and ardor of a true lover. She was rich, beautiful, a queen of her social set and she was very fond of the manly, athletic young fellow who came of one of the best families of the city.

Then there was disillusion for the devoted lover. As he became better acquainted with June he learned of her failings. She had been reared in the lap of a never-varying luxury and the experience had spoiled her. Little by little Revere comprehended that his choice had fallen upon a hothouse flower. June was gifted, intelligent and sweet-tempered, but she seemed never at home outside of an atmosphere that contributed to languor, ease and comfort.

"The shivering girl," Revere overheard an acquaintance remark one evening when they were returning from a day's trip on a lake steamer. The words affected him depressingly, for he had to acknowledge their verity. It had turned cool, and even with all her wraps around her June complained of the cold and insisted on seeking the shelter of the cabin. Her action was the crowning one of a series, gradually convincing Revere that his promised wife would require constant care, and likely to become in the years ahead, a delicate and complaining half-invalid. She was ever nibbling at chocolates, unwholesome pastry, and frothy, dainty viands formed her sustenance. Exercise was new to her, even to the extent of a game at tennis.

So, when Mr. Lindley announced that he was going to take June on a trip with him to visit a brother in northern Oregon, Revere hoped the change would give endurance and hardiness to the frail but loving girl who was turning out quite a disappointment to him, for it was late fall and Revere recognized that there would be some really shivering days far up near the Canadian border, and that June would have to put up with something less than a scented bath and a steam-heated boudoir.

Two letters came from June and Revere felt hopeful. She described humble folk and a primitive habitation in the wilderness, but a family with four children, whom she designated as hermits. The environment of her new home, too, with its mountains, rivers and rushing cascades had not been so artistic in her nature. Then Revere's mind no further word arrived. June began to grow anxious. He received a letter from Mr. Lindley at San Francisco.

"If you have the time, and the inclination," it read, "you might join me here and go to my brother's after June with me, and enjoy a pleasant home journey in our company," and Revere speedily wired his prospective father-in-law that he would take the first train for the West.

It was at a fashionable hotel in the Golden City that Revere was welcomed by Mr. Lindley. There was an unfamiliar air of activity about the father of his fiancée that indicated that his Western tour had put new vitality into him, and Revere hoped the same beneficial influence had exerted itself in behalf of June.

"I thought it best to suggest your coming on," said Mr. Lindley, "for between you and I, Revere, I fancy June has so completely fallen in love with her new home that she may ask me to settle down out here. It doesn't seem a whim and I am bound to indulge her. Of course I felt it incumbent upon me to learn your sentiments to such an extreme departure."

"I think," spoke Revere with a smile, "that we both are inclined to indulge June in her wishes."

"Nicely spoken, dear boy, and I thank you," replied Mr. Lindley effusively. "We had a terrible experience immediately after our arrival at my brother's home. A forest fire drove us all out as refugees in the night, and we had to join a vast fugitive throng in a hurried journey one hundred miles to the North. Storm and cold had set in and my brother's wife was so ill that she was helpless. But my brother found a farm with good buildings he could purchase in his new environment. I had to come down to the coast on business, but June insisted in remaining with her relatives, as some one had to look after the children. Now comes the remarkable outcome of her experience. I received a letter from her informing me that she felt that she had come upon the ideal life for her and hinting that when we returned home, and after the wedding, she hoped I would arrange so we could come back to the coast and remain there permanently."

It was ten days later that, muffled in furs, passengers in a huge sleigh, father and fiancée drove up in front of the great comfortable appearing new home of Mr. Lindley's brother. A merry hall welcomed them. Suspending a battle with snowballs, the hue of a new health showing on her lovely face, June Lindley led a group of excited urchins up to the newcomer.

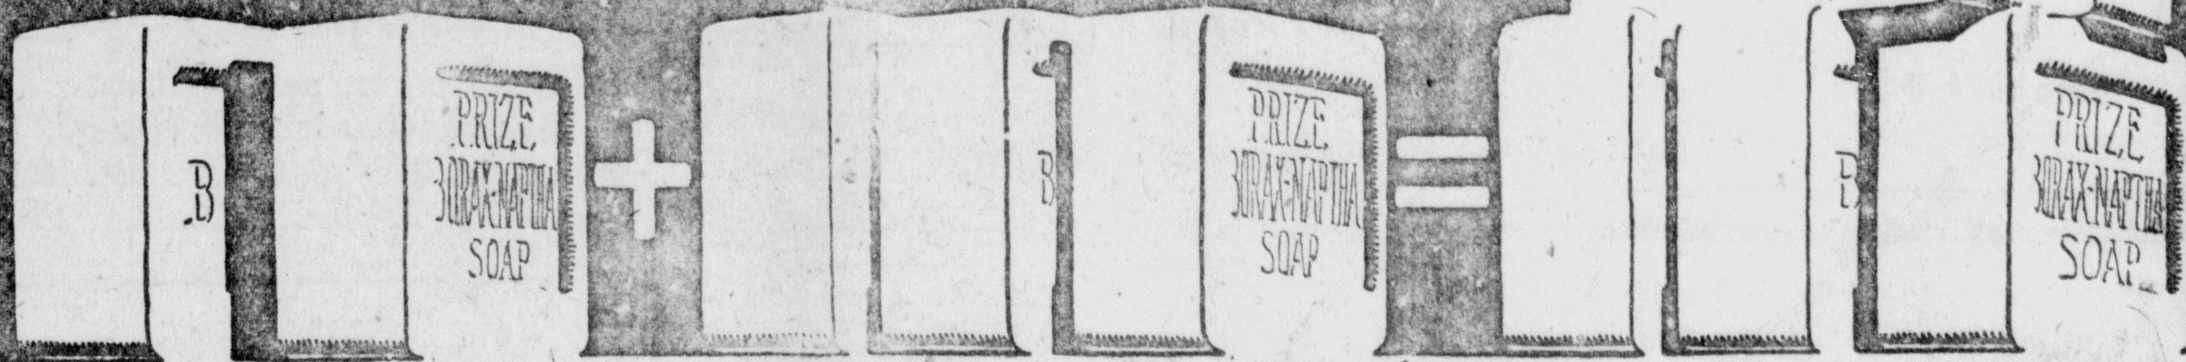

The heart of Adrian Revere leaped with delight, his eyes sparkled with joy. Before him stood June, transformed, in love with the zest and spur of the new bracing life, and he realized that "the shivering girl" was a memory of the past!

Same Old Arithmetic.
Some university professors are talking about getting out a new arithmetic. However, our guess is that it will bother the boys just as much to discover how long it will take one man to build a wall 18 feet long and six feet high and 12 inches thick, if eight men build a wall three times that in four days. Arithmetic has always been the castor oil of school life; they may fool with it as much as they will but they'll never find a way to make it pleasant to take.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

Sandra Realizes That She Has Developed.

CHAPTER CXXXVII.

Rose Kemp's very real troubles made my imaginary ones disappear for a time. When I was tempted to fret, or to give way to my jealousy grew older I was occupied most of the thought of her, her spoiled life, the time. My husband's social position demanded that we entertain a good deal, and of course we were entertained as well. Now he left all the details to me, instead of attending to them himself, with Mrs. Gray's assistance.

"You have developed into a wonderful hostess, Sandra," he said after a large dinner we gave. Everything had gone off smoothly and I too was rather proud of my success.

"I am delighted if you were pleased," I said quietly. Little he knew how I longed for something more than his calm praise which he might have given to anyone who had pleased him.

"You can be delighted, then for I was very pleased. Even Leveridge, your bete noir, complimented you. Said you were 'great.'"

"I am much obliged to Mr. Leveridge. Considering that he knows so much about such things, it was quite a compliment." We both laughed at my sarcasm and nothing more was said. But long after Everett had left for the office I stood at the window where I had waved goodbye, to him, and wished he would just once forget to praise so calmly; and love me as he had Leola.

"He never will. He'll never say those things to me," I murmured as I turned away, that note I had found so long ago still vividly in my mind.

Irma Barton was back. We had given her a dinner, and she had returned the compliment. She seemed very happy, and looked ten years younger—so Everett said.

We made up a little bridge club, playing once a week, just we four. As I grew to know Irma, I saw how I had wronged her in supposing she would be guilty of attempting to take Everett from me. She was the soul of honor. She never quibbled even when society women in general would perhaps have done so. And she was charming to me.

"You have made Everett over," she said once. "I rather thought you would. He is very much more entertaining than he used to be. A young wife was the best thing in the world for him. But tell me, didn't he have a few gray hairs when I was married? I had a notion he had"—then as she saw my expression, "don't tell me he has dyed them! That would be too wonderful, considering his expressed aversion toward women who do not think him my grandfather."

She laughed heartily, then said: "I'll not tell! I promise I won't. But Sandra, he must be very much in love with you; very anxious to keep your affection, or him to do a thing like that—it is so foreign to him. I think you should feel flattered."

"He doesn't seem old to me now," I recalled the day so long ago when I had talked with Erma of Leola, and how I had wished I were older, more like her. Now she didn't seem so much older, or else it was because I had lost some of my own childishness.

"No, he wouldn't! You have grown

along with him, Sandra. You are so wonderfully improved. You don't mind my saying so, do you? And Everett is terribly proud of you. He shows it in everything he says and does."

"I would rather he loved me more and was less proud," trembled on my tongue, but I caught myself in time and said nothing about the longing I still had to KNOW of myself, that my husband loved me as he was capable of loving—as he had loved my predecessor.

"He has tried hard enough to make something of me," I replied with a laugh. "It would be too bad of he hadn't accomplished something."

"Do not undervalue yourself, You are a very charming little woman. I am so happy myself, that I can afford to be generous and tell other women the truth."

Tomorrow—Sandra is Overwhelmed By a New Thought.

FELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Say a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel: Like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.

WANTS FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS TO KNOW FACTS

"Trutona Has Done ders for Me" Mrs. Greely Gratefully Declares.

Steuenville, O., Dec. 4th—There is probably no happier woman in the city of Steuenville than Mrs. Kate Greely, 45 years old, who lives at 224 North Third street. One has only to read the following public endorsement of Trutona, the Perfect Tonic, to become convinced of this.

"For a year or more," Mrs. Greely says, "I have suffered from stomach and kidney trouble. I felt tired and sleepy all the time, being terribly inattentive and wanting to lie in bed. When I did do a little house work I became so tired that I would have to stop. I suffered from rheumatic pains in my limbs which ached so bad that I could hardly walk.

"But I don't have these troubles any more," she concluded. "Since I have taken Trutona the pains and aches have disappeared from my back and limbs and, in fact, I feel like a new woman. I want all my friends and neighbors to know that Trutona has worked wonders for me and that it brought results where others failed. Trutona is a wonderful medicine and I am going to keep on using it."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Xenia at Sayre & Hemphill's.

News of the execution of General Felipe Angeles, revolutionist by the Carranza Government in Chihuahua City, was kept from his wife, who is seriously ill at her home in New York City. It is said that Mrs. Angeles was taken ill several months ago due to her worry over her husband's activities with the Villa forces in Mexico. In the inset is shown Isabel Angeles, twenty-year-old daughter of the General, who is with her mother in New York.

LIGHT COMEDY DRAWS GOOD CROWD; PLAY PLEASES AUDIENCE

Melroy and Clark tried hard to entertain with "A Honolulu Honey-moon," billed as a potpourri of dramatic fol-di-rol, which appeared at the opera house, Wednesday night. The production was the most pretentious seen here this season. Its scenes were clever and pretty, the chorus the best looking galaxy of girls that has appeared here for some time, the costumes splendid, and Ned Melroy himself, as the Irish comedian was a riot of laughter. The production fell down on the lack of a good female lead and some good voices. The Hawaiian players, with their weird music, and their real Hawaiian dancing, were clever and were well received. Tyne Collins is also a clever dancer. The audience also applauded the last scene, when the fire was seen shooting from the volcano in Honolulu. Minus Ned Melroy, the show would have dragged, but with this clever comedian on the stage almost all the time, the action was kept going and there was always a good laugh in store for the audience. H. J. Farrell and H. A. Higgins have returned from Cincinnati, where they took part in initiation exercises held by the Cincinnati Council, Knights of Columbus. Mr. Farrell and Mr. Higgins are members of the degree staff of the district deputy.

The bride's sister, Miss Helen Glenn, and her betrothed witnessed the marriage. A dainty Thanksgiving dinner was served to 50 guests. Mr. and Mrs. J. Kohl of this city drove to Catawba to witness the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McIntire will go to housekeeping here after January 1st.

BEAUTY DISAPPEARS IN HEART BALM SUIT.

Miss Beverly Juneau

After bringing suit for $100,000 damages in a breach of promise action against Jesse Metcalf, wealthy chairman and woolen merchant of New York, Miss Beverly Juneau, a 21-year-old young woman from Chicago, has strangely disappeared from her luxurious apartment in the Hotel des Artistes, in New York. Inquiries at the hotel where she has made her home for more than a year revealed that Miss Juneau had sold her furniture before departing. Friends intimate that she may have returned to her home in Chicago. Counsel for Mr. Metcalf, who has been married since 1915, characterize the claims of Miss Juneau as "absolutely false from beginning to end."

ing continually at the rink this year instead of one, according to the local mentor. The building is plenty large enough and in order to provide ample playing space for as many lads as want to play the indoor game, three courts will be measured out and baskets and banking boards provided for each.

The High School "X" Association is guaranteeing 10 home games to be played at the rink this year, and season tickets will be sold to that effect. The tickets will be placed on sale at all drug stores next Tuesday and will provide for admittance to every home basket ball game excepting the sectional interscholastic tournament which will be played off at the rink late in the season.

The prospects for the season are most promising and Coach Faires feels that the basketball team this year is going to win laurels that the football team was unable to in the season just closed.

Consular Agent Abducted and Finally Arrested by Mexican Authorities After Repeated Threats From U. S. Government. Is Now Safe According to Report of U. S. Government Agent at Pueblo.

BULLETIN

Washington, Dec. 5.—American Embassy at Mexico City informs State Department Jenkins released by Mexican Authorities late last night.

Washington, Dec. 5.—3:55 p. m.—William O. Jenkins, United States Consular Agent held by Mexican authorities, has been released. The American Embassy at Mexico City this afternoon, informed the state department that Jenkins was released by the Mexican authorities.

The state department issued the following statement: "The release of William O. Jenkins, American Consular Agent at Pueblo, Mexico, was reported late this afternoon from the American Embassy at Mexico City."

"The secretary of state announced that a dispatch from the embassy stated that Third Secretary Hannah of the Embassy, who was sent to Pueblo in connection with the department's repeated representations for the immediate release of Jenkins, has reported that Jenkins was released from the penitentiary last night."

"Jenkins was abducted October 19, and the American Embassy was immediately instructed to take all possible measures to effect his release from the bandits, who had robbed and kidnapped him. Jenkins was released on ransom, returning to Pueblo, on October 22, was taken to a hospital on that date and was arrested on November 15, by the Mexican authorities and taken into custody."

Reveal Reports

Washington, Dec. 5.—The Mexican situation gave way to interest in President Wilson condition in congress today.

The action of the foreign relations committee of the senate in delegating a committee of two consisting of Senator Fall of New Mexico and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, to call upon the president and determine whether he will be able to function in the Mexican situation has caused widespread interest in the capital.

Senator Fall declared that he has information which he must lay before the president, but that if he can not see the president, he will be forced to make it public. He further declared that this information will show that the Jenkins case is but a trifle compared to other things which Mexico must answer to this government for.

"Senator Hitchcock telephoned to the White House at 10:30 o'clock last night to see if an audience could be had with President Wilson. He told Secretary Tumulty that it was not necessary to see the chief executive today, but that Saturday, Sunday or even Monday would do."

Thus matters were left until today. This morning Mrs. Wilson announced to Secretary Tumulty that the president desired to see the committee of two from the senate as early as possible and set time at 2:30 p. m.

The Mexican crisis, therefore is now up to the president of the United States, along with all the complex situation arising out of it.

All the rumors and reports as to the president's incapacity owing to illness, to deal with affairs of state, will now be definitely settled as well the question mooted in the senate as to whether the president knew anything of the Jenkins affair and the present complications with Mexico.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Marietta Stewart of Springfield and the following children, all of whom live in Cedarville, Mrs. C. M. Stuckey, William Ford, Mrs. Minnie Owens and Alva Ford.

WOUNDED VETERANS APPEAL TO MINERS

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Facing a serious shortage of coal at the military hospital at Fort Sheridan, a committee of patients—overseas veterans suffering from wounds received in battle in France—sent the following appeal to the coal miners of the Sangamon county coal company:

"The coal supply at this hospital will last only a few days. We are entirely dependent upon you for coal after this is gone. Three thousand men here at your mercy. Many of us are confined to our beds. No coal means more than lack of comfort. It may mean death to many of us."

"We fought for you in France. Are you going to fight for us now or let us freeze? We expect a statement from you."

ALL WASHINGTON IN GRIP OF COAL SHORTAGE TODAY

Fuel Famine Also Hits New York as Cars Go Heatless; Street Signs Turned Off.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Official Washington awoke to a full realization of the coal crisis today, which was emphasized by a slight chill that hung over the whole city.

Coal conservation has hit the national capital and street cars were not fully heated, the bright lights had been ordered cut off, and apartment houses were minus the usual sizzling radiators. The government departments still have plenty of coal and were a haven of heat. Washington is not in the grip of a coal famine, but a shortage is seen in prospect and real conservation is bringing the seriousness of the situation forcibly to the attention of officials.

The entire situation now appears to rest with the courts in Indianapolis. The action taken by Federal Judge Anderson in ordering a grand jury investigation and the contempt of court proceedings against the leaders of the mine workers are held out as the only apparent hope of clearing the atmosphere sufficiently to secure a settlement.

The government will proceed through Attorney General Palmer with strict enforcement of the law, in the hopes that the miners will return to their work, when they learn that government is as determined to proceed against operators as against miners. Dr. Garfield was expected to arrive here today and to take up the next move for the conservation of coal. Reports are reaching the fuel administration of voluntary action in many cities for the conservation of coal and it is understood that Dr. Garfield is in favor of allowing wide discretion to the local committees in the matter of coal distribution.

Operators are here in session but they declare they are merely discussing tax problems and are not attempting to reach any settlement of the wage question. The road to relief now appears to be through the court of Judge Anderson.

New York, Dec. 5.—The maximum effect of the coal strike was felt here today. Heat was turned off in subway, elevated and surface cars during the rush hours and the bunkering of foreign ships was discontinued.

Cold weather caused much discomfort among persons using the electric railways to get to work. Beginning tonight the great electric signs which made Broadway famous as the "great white way" will be discontinued except for an hour between 7:30 and 8:30.

By these measures of economy it is hoped to save more than 1,000 tons of coal daily here.

ONE THIRD REDUCTION IN PASSENGER SERVICE WILL CAUSE R. R. DIFFICULTY

Predict That Curtailment in Train Service Over Entire Country Will Take Place Within Week.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Railroad officials in the middlewest today are rearranging their schedules to meet the one-third reduction ordered in passenger service in the central, southwestern and northwestern divisions effective Monday and which is expected to save about 11,000 tons of coal daily.

The mileage in the three territories in which the curtailment has been ordered total 18,152,000 miles a month. Railroad officials today predicted that the one-third reduction order would be applied to the entire country within the coming week. They estimated the nation's train mileage per month at 49,905,000 of which about 14,635,000 miles or more than enough to reach half way around the world would be cut in case the curtailment order is applied throughout the country.

These officials denied a nation wide embargo on non-essential freight was contemplated.

"There is an automatic embargo of freight in effect now," said M. J. Gormley, assistant director of the northwestern region. "This automatic embargo is increasing in proportion every day. Brick, stone, sand, cement, steel, are all non-essential. Since the manufacturing of these products has been discontinued the railroads no longer have to haul the cars."

Regional operating directors will use their discretion in each district rather than follow any rule of curtailment. The public will be notified in each case where a train is taken off its regular run, thus giving the public ample opportunity to make arrangements to obtain other trains and eliminating any inconvenience from the reduction of train service.

ALLIES PLANNING ACTION SHOULD GERMANY REFUSE

Paris, Dec. 5.—Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the imperial British staff, attended a secret meeting of the supreme council at which the allies discussed measures to be taken if Germany refuses to sign the protocol of ratification. The Matin stated today.

The Germans probably will be called upon immediately to sign the protocol, it was said.

There are hints current that the allies intend to extend their military occupation in Germany.

Baron Von Lonsner, head of the German delegation, announced through his secretary, Herr Myer, that Dr. Von Simon and the other German experts would return to Paris from Berlin on the following conditions:

1.—That the allies and associated powers accept Germany's suggestion that the question of reparation for the sinkings of the interned German fleet at Scapa Flow be submitted to The Hague tribunal.

2.—That the final paragraph of the protocol of ratification threatening coercive measures against Germany be eliminated.

3.—That the allies agree to a discussion of technical points such as the delivery of materials.

It was stated in American circles that there was not the slightest chance that the allies would agree to those conditions.

MRS. IRENE M. JAMES DIES AT HOME AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS

Mrs. Irene Marshall James, widow of B. F. James, died at 5:45 o'clock Friday morning at her home in Bellbrook.

In failing health for some time, Mrs. James' condition became serious recently, but she had been confined to her bed only since last Monday.

Mrs. James was born in Sugar Creek township 68 years ago. She was the daughter of Jesse Marshall and Ruth Robinson Marshall. All her life was passed in the vicinity of Bellbrook.

After her marriage to B. F. James, they lived on the James homestead farm south of Bellbrook until a few years ago, when they moved to Bellbrook. Mr. James died two years ago.

Mrs. James is survived by four brothers and one sister, Willis Marshall of New Burlington; Joseph, Frank and Miss Fannie Marshall of Bellbrook; and Daniel Marshall of Dayton. Judge J. C. Marshall and L. T. Marshall of this city are the only nephews of the decedent, and they regarded Mrs. James as a foster mother, their mother having died when they were very young.

For many years Mrs. James was prominent in the work of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. She was the county treasurer of the organization several years, and at the time of her death was president of the Bellbrook union. She was a member of the Greene County Executive Committee of the W. C. T. U.

Funeral services will be held at the home Monday at 1 p. m.

Charge Against Hotel Man.

Upper Sandusky, O., Dec. 5.—Harry Morris, proprietor of the Superior hotel, Toledo, is being held in jail here awaiting a hearing on a charge of having robbed a bank at Harper on April 24. He was brought here from Toledo.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The coal strike is gradually breaking, Judge C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general today stated. He said reports reaching the department of justice indicate that the coal miners are gradually returning to their work.

There are now about 50 per cent of the miners at work, according to Judge Ames. This means that approximately 250,000 men are producing coal and unless there is a change, officials believe that coal production figures will increase from now on.

Monday was the critical day, Judge Ames said, and fewer men were at work then than at any time since the strike began. Since Monday conditions have gradually become better.

Judge Ames leaves tomorrow for Indianapolis where he will assist Anderson in the prosecution of the contempt of court proceedings in the grand jury investigation of the coal strike.

Indianapolis, Dec. 5.—The government has taken steps to broaden the scope of its prosecutions in connection with the strike of coal miners and will investigate alleged violations of the Lever food control act and the Sherman anti-trust law by miners, operators and others.

United States District Judge A. B. Anderson ordered a special session of the federal grand jury here Monday morning and immediately afterward a statement was given out by United States District Attorney L. Ert Slack and Dan W. Simms, special district attorney who is aiding in the injunction proceedings, declaring that the time has arrived to determine "whether this is a government of law or of a group of men."

The grand jury investigation, called primarily to deal with charges against coal operators, will cover all phases of the controversy in the coal industry, and will be nation-wide in its scope, it was stated. The statement of government attorneys brought out that the investigation was intended not only to furnish relief in the present coal crisis, but that the government expects to prosecute all violators of the law and will see that they suffer the penalties provided by law. The Lever law carries a penalty of $5,000 fine or imprisonment, not to exceed two years, in the penitentiary.

The Shivering Girl

By RALPH HAMILTON

Adrian Revere proposed to June Lindley with all the sincerity and ardor of a true lover. She was rich, beautiful, a queen of her social set and she was very fond of the manly, athletic young fellow who came of one of the best families of the city.

Then there was disillusion for the devoted lover. As he became better acquainted with June he learned of her failings. She had been reared in the lap of a never-varying luxury and the experience had spoiled her. Little by little Revere comprehended that his choice had fallen upon a hothouse flower. June was gifted, intelligent and sweet-tempered, but she seemed never at home outside of an atmosphere that contributed to languor, ease and comfort.

"The shivering girl," Revere overheard an acquaintance remark one evening when they were returning from a day's trip on a lake steamer. The words affected him depressingly, for he had to acknowledge their verity. It had turned cool, and even with all her wraps around her June complained of the cold and insisted on seeking the shelter of the cabin. Her action was the crowning one of a series, gradually convincing Revere that his promised wife would require constant care, and likely to become in the years ahead, a delicate and complaining half-invalid. She was ever nibbling at chocolates, unwholesome pastry, and frothy, dainty viands formed her sustenance. Exercise was a thing to her, even to the extent of a game at tennis.

So, when Mr. Lindley announced that he was going to take June on a trip with him to visit a brother in northern Oregon, Revere hoped the change would give endurance and hardiness to the frail but loving girl who was turning out quite a disappointment to him, for it was late fall and Revere recognized that there would be some really shivering days far up near the Canadian border, and that June would have to put up with something less than a scented bath and a steam-heated boudoir.

Two letters came from June and Revere felt hopeful. She described humble folk and a primitive habitation in the wilderness, but a family with four children, whom she designated as "herbs." The environment of her new home, too, with its mountains, rushing cascades and rushing rapids had appealed to the artistic in her nature. Then, however, no further word arrived. Revere began to grow anxious, and he received a letter from Mr. Lindley at San Francisco.

"If you have the time, and the inclination," it read, "you might join me here and go to my brother's after June with me, and enjoy a pleasant home journey in our company," and Revere speedily wired his prospective father-in-law that he would take the first train for the West.

It was at a fashionable hotel in the Golden City that Revere was welcomed by Mr. Lindley. There was an unfamiliar air of activity about the father of his fiancée that indicated that his Western tour had put new vitality into him, and Revere hoped the same beneficial influence had exerted itself in behalf of June.

"I thought it best to suggest your coming on," said Mr. Lindley, "between you and I, Revere, I fancy June has so completely fallen in love with her new home that she may ask me to settle down out here. It doesn't seem a whim and I am bound to indulge her. Of course I felt it incumbent upon me to learn your sentiments to such an extreme departure."

"I think," spoke Revere with a smile, "that we both are inclined to indulge June in her wishes."

"Nicely spoken, dear boy, and I thank you," replied Mr. Lindley effusively. "We had a terrible experience immediately after our arrival at my brother's home. A forest fire drove us all out as refugees in the night, and we had to join a vast fugitive throng in a hurried journey one hundred miles to the North. Storm and cold had set in and my brother's wife was so ill that she was helpless. But my brother found a farm with good buildings he could purchase in his new environment. I had to come down to the coast on business, but June insisted in remaining with her relatives, as some one had to look after the children. Now comes the remarkable outcome of her experience. I received a letter from her informing me that she felt that she had come upon the ideal life for her, and hinting that when we returned home, and after the wedding, she hoped I would arrange so we could come back to the coast and remain there permanently."

It was ten days later that, muffled in furs, passengers in a huge sleigh, father and fiancée drove up in front of the great comfortable appearing new home of Mr. Lindley's brother. A merry hall welcomed them. Suspending a battle with snowballs, the hue of a new health showing on her lovely face, June Lindley led a group of excitedurchins up to the newcomer.

The heart of Adrian Revere leaped with delight, his eyes sparkled with joy. Before him stood June, transformed, in love with the zest and spur of the new bracing life, and he realized that "the shivering girl" was a memory of the past!

Same Old Arithmetic.

Some university professors are talking about getting out a new arithmetic. However, our guess is that it will bother the boys just as much to discover how long it will take one man to build a wall 18 feet long and six feet high and 12 inches thick, if it takes an build a wall three times that in four days. Arithmetic has always been the castor oil of school life; they may fool with it as much as they will but they'll never find a way to make it pleasant to take.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

Sandra Realizes That She Has Developed.

CHAPTER CXXXVII.

Rose Kemp's very real troubles made my imaginary ones disappear for a time. When I was tempted to fret, or to give way to my jealousy, Rose grew older I was occupied most of the thought of her; her spoiled life, the time. My husband's social position demanded that we entertain a good deal, and of course we were entertained as well. Now he left all the details to me, instead of attending to them himself, with Mrs. Gray's assistance.

"You have developed into a wonderful hostess, Sandra," he said after a large dinner we gave. Everything had gone off smoothly and I too was rather proud of my success. "I am delighted if you were pleased," I said quietly. Little he knew how I longed for something more than his calm praise which he might have given to anyone who had pleased him.

"You can be delighted, then for I was very pleased. Even Leveridge, your bete noir, complimented you. Said you were 'great.'"

"I am much obliged to Mr. Leveridge. Considering that he knows so much about such things, it was quite a compliment." We both laughed at my sarcasm and nothing more was said. But long after Everett had left for the office I stood at the window where I had waved goodbye, to him, and wished he would just once forget to praise so calmly; and love me as he had Leola.

"He never will. He'll never say those things to me," I murmured as I turned away, that note I had found so long ago still vividly in my mind. Irma Barton was back. We had given her a dinner, and she had returned the compliment. She seemed very happy, and looked ten years younger—so Everett said.

We made up a little bridge club, playing once a week, just we four. As I grew to know Irma, I saw how I had wronged her in supposing she would be guilty of attempting to take Everett from me. She was the soul of honor. She never quibbled even when society women in general would perhaps have done so. And she was charming to me.

"You have made Everett over," she said once. "I rather thought you would. He is very much more entertaining than he used to be. A young wife was the best thing in the world for him. But tell me, didn't he have a few gray hairs when I was married? I had a notion he had"—then as she saw my expression, "don't tell me he has dyed them! That would be too wonderful, considering his expressed aversion toward women who do not think him my grandfather."

"She laughed heartily, then," said: "I'll not tell I promise I won't. But Sandra, he must be very much in love with you; very anxious to keep your affection, or him to do a thing like that—it is so foreign to him. I think you should feel flattered."

"He doesn't seem old to me now," I recalled the day so long ago when I had talked with Erma of Leola, and how I had wished I were older, more like her. Now she didn't seem so much older, or else it was because I had lost some of my own childishness.

"No, he wouldn't! You have grown

along with him, Sandra. You are so wonderfully improved. You don't mind my saying so, do you? And Everett is terribly proud of you. He shows it in everything he says and does."

"I would rather he loved me more and was less proud," trembled on my tongue, but I caught myself in time and said nothing about the longing I still had to KNOW of myself, that my husband loved me as he was capable of loving—as he had loved my predecessor.

"He has tried hard enough to make something of me," I replied with a laugh. "It would be too bad of he hadn't accomplished something."

"Do not undervalue yourself, You are a very charming little woman. I am so happy myself, that I can afford to be generous and tell other women the truth."

Tomorrow—Sandra is Overwhelmed By a New Thought.

Sure Relief

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Say a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat turns sour and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and your bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel: like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and refreshing, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.

COACH FAIRES NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR TWO GAME BOOKING

The fact that Coach V. L. Faires of Central High School was merely acting according to the wishes of the members of his football team, and upon the advice of other school officials in booking the Xenia-West Alexandria football game two weeks ago, has caused the agitation that grew out of that fact, to subside gently.

Coach Faires hesitated to book the contest, it has been learned, but was urged by the members of the team who were confident they could defeat the Alexandrians. When they were defeated the cancellation of the game with Washington, C. H., on the following day was a logical move, because the players were physically unable to play after the hard game on Friday and all of them asked that the game be cancelled.

The fact that the sport writer of the Washington Herald criticised the cancellation of the contest saying that it was like "previous stunts pulled by Xenia," led to the belief that Washington High School was peeved by the incident. However Principal O. K. Probasco of the Washington school disproved this belief and said that the school authorities had given no such statement to the Washington paper. Washington has been booked for basketball this season and for football next year, which shows that the local school does not have a bad name with the Fayette county institution.

In cancelling the game Coach Faires was within his rights as the local school readily paid the forfeit provided for by the Ohio State Athletic Association. The local mentor regretted the cancellation of the set-to and would have taken his charges to Washington to fulfill the contract had they been willing to play.

The bookings of the West Alexandria game was done on the advice and at the request of the players and had the contest resulted in a local victory, it is assured that the mentor would not have been drawn into the light of criticism because of the incident.

CLEVELANDERS TO HAVE NEW CHANCE

Cleveland, O., Dec. 4.—Cleveland voters will have an opportunity to pass upon the decision of arbitrators who awarded the Cleveland Railway Company, a one per cent dividend increase.

It was announced today that as soon as council passes an ordinance complying with the board's award, a referendum will be started.

The arbitrators increased the company dividend rate from 6 to 7 per cent. This will mean higher fares, according to traction authorities.

CLIFTON

The first number of the Lyceum Course will be given Friday evening, December 5th, at the Opera House. "The Carolina Girls," will give a musical program.

Mr. Richard Sparrow with Mrs. Elizabeth Hopping and Bert Hopping, spent the Thanksgiving Holidays with his son, Clinton Sparrow and family in Dayton.

Mrs. A. E. Swaby and Miss Florence White spent the week-end in Cincinnati.

Two clever little playlets, "The Newly Weds," and "The Pilgrims" were features of the school entertainment, before closing for Thanksgiving.

The K. of P. annual oyster supper was largely attended last Tuesday evening.

Dr. J. H. Harris and Messrs. E. J. and Stafford McCullough returned from a three week's hunting trip to Maine last Friday. They brought home a deer, killed by Stafford McCullough.

Mrs. Laura Printz attended the marriage of her son, Chester Printz, to Miss Bessie M. Payne, at Springfield, Thanksgiving morning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Corry entertained Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Jobe, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jobe and Messrs. Elder and Walter Corry and their families at a noon dinner last Thursday.

Ancestors of Sheep.

All the present breeds of sheep are probably descended from the Mountain, the European wild breed. The other leading wild breeds are the Argali of central Asia, and the Bighorn of the Rocky mountains in America; but it is doubtful if any domesticated varieties have been evolved from these. All the recently opened countries have been stocked from Europe, and nearly all from English breeds, with the exception of the Spanish merino.

WANTS FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS TO KNOW FACTS

"Trutona Has Done
ders for Me" Mrs.
Greely Gratefully
Declares.

Steubenville, O., Dec. 4th.—There is probably no happier woman in the city of Steubenville than Mrs. Kate Greely, 45 years old, who lives at 224 North Third street. One has only to read the following public endorsement of Trutona, the Perfect Tonic, to become convinced of this.

"For a year or more," Mrs. Greely says, "I have suffered from stomach and kidney trouble. I felt tired and sleepy all the time, being terribly in-ambitious and wanting to lie in bed. When I did do a little house work I became so tired that I would have to stop. I suffered from rheumatic pains in my limbs which ached so bad that I could hardly walk."

"But I don't have these troubles any more," she concluded. "Since I have taken Trutona the pains and aches have disappeared from my back and limbs and, in fact, I feel like a new woman. I want all my friends and neighbors to know that Trutona has worked wonders for me and that it brought results where others failed. Trutona is a wonderful medicine and I am going to keep on using it."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Xenia at Sayre & Hemphill's.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole. Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients combined in the form of the perfect white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister. Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 20c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50

News of the execution of General Felipe Angeles, revolutionist by the Carranza Government in Chihuahua City, was kept from his wife, who is seriously ill at her home in New York City. It is said that Mrs. Angeles was taken ill several months ago due to her worry over her husband's activities with the Villa forces in Mexico. During the World War General Angeles had been munitions expert for the French Government in New York and is said to have returned to Mexico against the wishes of his family. In the inset is shown Isabel Angeles, twenty-year-old daughter of the General, who is with her mother in New York.

LIGHT COMEDY DRAWS GOOD CROWD; PLAY PLEASES AUDIENCE

Melroy and Clark tried hard to entertain with "A Honolulu Honey-moon," billed as a potpourri of dramatic fol-di-rol, which appeared at the opera house, Wednesday night.

The production was the most pretentious seen here this season. Its scenes were clever and pretty, the chorus the best looking galaxy of girls that has appeared here for some time, the costumes splendid, and Ned Melroy himself, as the Irish comedian, was a riot of laughter.

The production fell down on the lack of a good female lead and some good voices. The Hawaiian players, with their weird music, and their real Hawaiian dancing, were clever and were well received. Tynie Collins is also a clever dancer. The audience also applauded the last scene, when the fire was seen shooting from the volcano in Honolulu.

Minus Ned Melroy, the show would have dragged, but with this clever comedian on the stage almost all the time, the action was kept going and there was always a good laugh in store for the audience.

H. J. Farrell and H. A. Higgins have returned from Cincinnati, where they took part in initiation exercises held by the Cincinnati Council, Knights of Columbus. Mr. Farrell and Mr. Higgins are members of the degree staff of the district deputy.

XENIA BUSINESS MAN MARRIES HILLSBORO GIRL.

Mr. Robert McIntire, manager of the Vulcanizing Department of the Xenia Vulcanizing Co., was united in marriage to Miss Ravella Glenn, Thanksgiving Day, at high noon. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents at Catawba, Ohio. The bride was lovely in white georgette with pearl trimmings, carrying a bouquet of white bridal roses. The bride's sister, Miss Helen Glenn, and her betrothed witnessed the marriage. A dainty Thanksgiving dinner was served to 50 guests. Mr. and Mrs. J. Kohl of this city drove to Catawba to witness the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McIntire will go to housekeeping here after January 1st.

BEAUTY DISAPPEARS IN HEART BALM SUIT.

Miss Beverly Juneau

After bringing suit for $100,000 damages in a breach of promise action against Jesse Metcalf, wealthy clothier and woolen merchant of New York, Miss Beverly Juneau, a 21-year-old young woman from Chicago, has strangely disappeared from her luxurious apartment in the Hotel des Artistes, in New York. Inquiries at the hotel where she has made her home for more than a year revealed that Miss Juneau had sold her furniture before departing. Friends intimate that she may have returned to her home in Chicago Council for Mr. Metcalf, who has been married since 1915, characterize the claims of Miss Juneau as "absolutely false from beginning to end."

BIG SQUAD EXPECTED FOR 1ST B. B. PRACTICE BY HI. SCHOOL COACH

Coach V. L. Faires of Central High school will have 63 candidates out for basket ball when the squad takes the floor for the initial practice session at the Rink Monday afternoon.

"There is more basket ball enthusiasm being shown here recently, than I have ever seen," said the Coach Thursday. "Everyone is anxious to try for a berth on the team and we are going to be able to have several teams in the field."

There will be three courts operating continually at the rink this year instead of one, according to the local mentor. The building is plenty large enough and in order to provide ample playing space for as many lads, as want to play the indoor game, three courts will be measured off and baskets and banking boards provided for each.

The High School "X" Association is guaranteeing 10 home games to be played at the rink this year, and season tickets will be sold to that effect. The tickets will be placed on sale at all drug stores next Tuesday and will provide for admittance to every home basket ball game excepting the sectional interscholastic tournament which will be played off at the rink late in the season.

The prospects for the season are most promising and Coach Faires feels that the basketball team this year is going to win laurels that the football team was unable to in the season just closed.
